Empowerment in Sustainable Development”

C A T A L O G U E

Message from Chairperson

In 2017, with great excitement and enthusiasm, Manushi is celebrating its 25 years of operation as a non-profit organization. In this period, it has continuously served the poor, low income, indigenous and marginalized producers and supported the poorest women in its areas of operation with its micro finance services and other development programs.

Manushi as a member of WFTO, founding member of the Fair Trade Group Nepal and the World Fair Trade Organization Asia, Manushi has been dedicated to fair trade principles such as creating opportunities, ensuring safe and healthy working conditions, building capacity, and minimizing environmental foot-print while always remaining transparent and accountable to its stakeholders.

On this special occasion we have published our first ever product catalogue which you are holding in your hand, is our way of saying thank you to everyone who worked hard to ensure our success. For the reader, it is an opportunity to explore the delightful and creative artworks of our designers, producers, and artisans. Their commitment and innovative mind-sets have been the cornerstone for the continual change and growth of our products.

This catalogue is unique, it not only showcases the combined skills of our artisans, but also provides a retrospective look at our beginnings. By designing the catalogue in such a way, the prospective partners will see our beautiful products in addition to the human side of our organization. In each page you will find our wide-ranging products from handmade textiles to natural fiber products, from metal crafts to fashion and felt accessories. The products on display here are made with unique techniques that represent the best of Nepalese traditional design adapted to contemporary trends.

I am glad to present this catalogue and would like to thank to all our well-wishers, supporters and partners (national and international), specially Christiane Claren from Akar for their valuable input and support which has strengthened us to overcome many of the challenges we faced in the last twenty five years.

Wishing best for all our artisans and partners.

Padmasana Shakya
Chairperson

Tie & Dye

Emerging in the mid-1960s, tie-dye is a resist-dyeing technique which is created by folding, crumpling or twisting garments with strings and rubbers so as to stop the dye from getting spread to other parts of the garment. It is traditional art and craft used by our grandparents as an artistic product.

Nowadays, a majority of tie-dyes are produced with natural & Azo free chemical dyes. Even everyday used household items such as beetroot juice, nettle, turmeric, coffee/tea etc can do the trick for coloring. In order to raise the pH level and start the reaction, soda ash and salt are added directly to the dye because it allows the colors to stain the fabric easily and stay brighter for a long period of time.

Depending on the thickness and type of fabrics any piece of clothing can be tie-dyed easily. The most popular tie-dye textiles are bed sheets, cushion covers, dresses, t-shirts, shawls, kitchen dinning fabrics, accessories etc. Aesthetically pleasing and easy to make tie-dyes are a form of artistic expression which showcases a sense of free spirit and love for peace. Tie-dyed products have intricate details and embellishments which transform even a borin plain garment into a colorful explosion of fascinating motifs and designs.

MEENA GURUNG

Meena has been a part of Manushi since the establishment of the organization. She came to Manushi in response to a training advertisement and she was in the first training batch of Manushi. She now works in the tie-dye department as a team leader. Due to the poor economic condition of her family, she started to work at an early age of sixteen. She shares about the difficulties she faced at the beginning of this endeavor. Due to the lack of market and amateur workers, the products often got dumped and she used to get her salary late. Now things have changed. She now gives training to new employees. She feels that Manushi helped her to become an independent woman and also helped to raise the living standard of her family.

GANGA MAHARJAN

Ganga Maharjan has been working at Manushi for last 12 years. She lives in a joint family with her husband and 19-years old son. Before joining Manushi she had some sewing skills. Later, she joined Manushi as a trainee and further developed her skills. Ganga now works at Manushi in the sewing department. She remembers those days when she was hesitate to talk with strangers, but now she has enough confident to talk with diverse and large group of people. She says she did the great work joining Manushi. Manushi helped her to uplift her economic condition and capacity that would be useful for her lifetime. Now she is no longer financially dependent on her family.

Natural Fiber

Natural fibers are longer and thinner substances produced with the help of plants and animals that can be twisted and turned into filaments, thread, or rope. The most common plant fibers are cotton, hemp, jute, bamboo and flax with the sources for fiber including leaves, stems, seed hairs and husk fibers. Similarly, the most common animal fibers are silk and wool. Bundles of years back, natural fiber threads were used as household materials but now, the value of natural fiber has extended beyond just materials to make clothes, shawls, baskets and other decorative items. Most of the Natural Fibers contains high resistance and tensile strength so, these fibers are durable and sturdy. Natural fiber is used to make our clothes soft and strong also used to decorate our living spaces.

The indigenous people comprised of -Magar, Tamang, Newar, Chettri, Brahmin, etc inhabiting the different parts of Nepal, practice some traditional technology of weaving handloom by using natural fibers as raw materials

DIVYATARA TULADHAR

Diby Tara Tuladhar, the Vice Chairperson of Manushi is a determined social entrepreneur; who seeks to empower women and strengthen their capacity. She has been associated with Manushi for more than 17 years. She has been actively engaged in the extraction of natural fiber from nettle, hemp and banana. She is a pioneer in the field of banana fiber. Before her initiation, banana's thumb was a waste material but now it is a raw material which can be used to make stunning dresses, shawls, bags and decorative items. She has currently employed 21 staffs under the project in Nawalparasi district. The women are trained in banana fiber project. The products which are developed from the fiber are apparels and bags. They are eco-friendly, fashionable and durable. These products are targeted to export in the international market, but it was not easy to reach international market. She went through numbers of hurdles now with the help of Manushi her products are being able to reach in international market.

HARI GOPAL CHYASE

Hari Gopal Chyase, the producer of Manushi was born in an entrepreneur family. His forefathers had also been involved in the cottage industry for many years. He decided to step in and take this family business forward. He is a good textile designer and trainer. He is providing training on what he had learnt to others in different places of Nepal. He has expanded his family micro enterprise to the new level by promoting organic material in Nepal. During his lifetime in micro enterprise development, he had faced many problems. The main problem was lack of market space, which led him to associate with Manushi. With the help of Manushi, he is now able to produce variety of unique products as demand by international market.

Weaving

Nepalese weaving is rich in terms of art and culture. Weaving is all about two distinct sets of yarns or threads interlacing at right angle to form a fabric or cloth. Weaving can be done either through hand or machine. Hand woven are fabrics woven by hand. Various products with diverse patterns can be created through weaving such as coats, mufflers, mats, carpets, belt, kitchen accessories, bags etc. Beyond its creativity, tightly woven woolen fabric are comfortable, warm and cozy in winter whereas loosely woven and fine threads clothes are cool, breathable and stylish for summer. In Nepal, hand woven is a traditional skill passed down through generations.

GAURA GIRI

Gaura Giri is a weaving producer of Manushi. He had spent his childhood in Balmandir, Kathmandu. He is a hardworking producer, has developed his own small scale enterprise. He had faced many difficulties at the beginning. Although his products were marvellous, he was not able to reach in the main stream of market. Manushi helped him to form a bridge between the market and his product. His life changed after he came in contact with Manushi. Now, the relationship between Manushi and his work has a decent identity in the market. He has been working with Manushi since last eighteen years. Gaura's enterprise makes hand-woven clothes such as table clothes, room décor items, clothes for interior of cars, gloves, belts, blankets, scarfs etc. He uses diverse raw materials such as cotton, flax, silk, wool, rayon, nylon, allo, jute etc.

Metal

In Nepal history of metal craft dates back to the medieval period as a metal crest, was found in the Changuarayan temple which is believed to be the oldest temple in Nepal. Nepal has a renowned name in the line of metal crafts with products like: metal statues, jewelries, singing bowls and other decorative items. The process of manufacturing of metal crafts start from casting, carving to polishing by different methods according to the type of product. Same method of production is used in singing bowls as well. Singing bowl is a type of bell which rather than hanging inverted or attached to a handle, sits with the bottom surface resting, and the rim vibrates to produce sound. Singing bowls are also known as rim gongs which are widely used for relaxation, melody, meditation and decorative purposes. Metal craft has garnished the reputation of Nepal in the international market.

PRABIN SHAKYA

Prabin Shakya is a metal craft producer of Manushi. He produces singing bowl. Singing bowls are the flat bells of Tibetan origin. Some of the difficulties he has been facing – are the scarcity of raw materials and the fluctuation of prices, which has made it challenging to quote the prices of final products. The company and Manushi formed a link when Manushi officials contacted him. And the relationship flourished and the company immensely profited with increased orders. Mr. Shakya is delighted that Manushi has helped to maintain labor respect and supported to increase the economic condition of the workers. He is proud to work with Manushi, which is a fair trade organization working to promote/maintain fair trade principles. With introduction of more modern technologies and inherited skills, metal craft business can prosper in coming days.

Pashmina & Wool

Pashmina is a type of fine Cashmere wool. It is the trendiest and most popular type of fabric in modern era and a royal luxury during the medieval times. Pashmina is extracted from the Cashmere wool which is very thin up to 15 microns. With products like shawls, ponchos, scarves, sweaters, blankets, caps and others Pashmina has left its royal mark symbolizing warmth and beauty. Pashmina is renowned by its quality of being softer and luxurious with every wash. Preferred to be dry cleaned and if handled with care products of Pashmina are very durable. Pashmina shawls from Nepal are pursued as the best in quality because it can adapt the extreme cold climate. Coats and Shawls are light fiber but provide an utmost warmth. Pashmina is one of the major exports from Nepal which has helped to sustain many Himalayan livelihoods.

MAHESH SHRESTHA (KAYASTHA)

Mahesh Shrestha (Kayastha) has an interesting story of how he started as a pashmina producer. Mahesh Shrestha had no intention of starting this business as his family had chosen the profession of repairing cars. The combination of his mechanical knowledge and the influence of his friends' who were in the pashmina business led to the establishment of pashmina production. Some of the difficulties that the company currently facing are the lack of skilled manpower and the lack of proper market during the off seasons. Manushi and Mahesh Shrestha's relationship started when his friend introduced him with member of Manushi.

From that time onwards the relationship between Manushi and Mr. Shrestha has flourished the business. Mr. Shrestha shares how delighted he is working with Manushi as it has helped him to get orders even during the off season. He is also grateful for how Manushi has introduced its producers in Fair Trade principles and helped preserve labor satisfaction and encouraged a prudent way of doing business. Furthermore, Mr. Shrestha feels that the trainings and skill development workshops that Manushi provided to its producer companies have also helped in his enterprise development.

Felt

Mostly popular in the European countries; for the embellishing objects it creates- 'Felt' is gaining its popularity here in Nepal too. Felt is a fabric made from wool that is matted, condensed, pressed and dyed to bright and beautiful colors. It is adored for its soft and fuzzy texture that does not wear out easily and is even eco-friendly.

Felt can be mold and sewed to different items. Various products can be made through felt such as small coin purse, large tote bag, muffler, hat, shoes for children and for adult, ball-carpet, wall hanging decorative etc. These items are all made up of simple material but because they are hand-crafted it adds aesthetic value to these.

Handicraft items play a crucial role in representing the culture and tradition of any country. Although the Felt handicraft was not pioneered in Nepal and despite the challenge of having to import the wool- it has been adopted as one of its own since more than a decade. Now, it is also gaining popularity amongst the youngsters because of its colorfulness and its uniqueness.

FRIEND HANDICRAFT: SHANTI SHRESTHA AND NIRJALA SHRESTHA

Friend Handicraft, which produces felt products for Manushi, was established in 2002 by Shanti Shrestha and Nirjala Shrestha with the initiation of Manushi. Shanti Shrestha is a board member of Manushi. They said that, since childhood, they were interested in handicraft products, and thought of making a contribution in the handicraft sector in Nepal. Since last fourteen years Friend Handicraft has been involved into felt production but at the initial phase, felt was not their major production. They started hemp and allo production with a capital of NRs. 6000 in a tiny room at Ason Chowk in, Kathmandu. After a few months of establishment of the organization, they changed the product line to felt.

Friend Handicraft is an associated organization of Manushi which produces felt samples as well as products for Manushi according to the demand of the market. The felt products are very interesting, artistic and appealing. Manushi and its customer i.e international market are very impressed with Friend Handicraft's quality. More than 125 grass-root women are involved in the production. They have earned their livelihood from felt work. As a social enterprise, Friend Handicraft is supporting and encouraging uneducated women, empowering them socially and economically.

Paper Craft

Lokta paper is a handmade paper which is made from the fibrous inner bark of high elevation shrubs botanically known as Daphne Bhoula or Daphne Papyracea. First used in the 12th century in Nepal to jot down epic tales and religious texts and mantras, it is still widely used today for legal documents, official government records, writer's note book, lamps and wallpaper for decoration.

Lokta paper is an eco-friendly paper as it is made out of a renewable resource of handmade from Lokta bush and shrubs. For centuries, it has generated employment to both rural and urban villages and serves as a primary income source for many. Lokta bush regenerates naturally with suitable conditions and usually takes 4-6 years of time to grow completely. Therefore, there is no unfavorable effect on the forest environment and ecology.

Lokta paper is sturdy and durable so it can be preserved for a long period of time. They are germ-free, non-toxic and anti-water absorbent. These days, they are increasing in popularity due to their use in book binding, origami, restaurant menus, prayer flags, decoration box and packaging. Even though the manufacturing is done in the hills, the dyeing is done typically in the Kathmandu valley using dyes which are meet by the EU standards on fumes and toxicology.

Jewellery

Worn for personal decoration, jewelries are ornaments which are worn on clothes or body and are often made of valuable gems and precious metals. The purpose of jewelry varies from a sign of social and personal status to providing talismanic protection and warding off evil spirits. In some cases, jewelry can also represent group membership or some kind of ethnic, social or religious association.

Handcrafted jewelries can be of silver, white metals, bones, beads and chunks serve as a fashion statement. Paired with an appropriate outfit and the right personality, handicraft jewelries, being different from normal gold-pearls-diamond jewelries can perk up the cool look and confidence of a person. Just a chunky handcrafted necklace can transform your outfit from drag to glam in a matter of seconds! These jewelries are known for their cherry on top effect, and can fill in the missing pieces to complete our entire look. But they must be worn according to events and occasions. For example, a classic string of pearls can be worn to a wedding, but edgy pieces such as bones and spike are more appropriate at a rock concert or normal young-gatherings.

RAM CHANDRA SUNAR

Ram Chandra Sunar is a silver jewelry maker who lives in Lalitpur, Nepal. He has been making jewelry for last thirty years as a family business in the footstep of his father and grandfather. It was through his colleagues and friends he came to know about Manushi. Relationship with Manushi has helped him to sustain and profit from his business. In the initial phase, Mr. Sunar often faced difficulties as he could not say how many orders he would get but Manushi opened up numbers of opportunities for him. Now, he does not worry about orders. Being linked to Manushi, Mr. Sunar has made an array of different silver jewelries, such as earrings, pendants, bracelets, and rings. He designs silver ornaments with different stones. He often channels his creative energy and makes his own unique designs, or produces design as per Manushi's order.
